Message from Mayor Peterson and Director Wynns

Dear Friends,

What better way to celebrate the summer season than to enjoy a picnic with friends and family while listening to the best in local entertainment? Indy Parks is dedicated to bringing the arts to a larger audience in Indianapolis, and we are pleased to share with you the great diversity of arts activities available in the city's parks. The roster of music performances feature the nation's most prestigious orchestra, progressive jazz and blues artists and familiar big band and pops concerts.

Experience a variety of unique visual art exhibits featuring the works from local, national and international artists. Of course, it wouldn't be summer without Movies in the Park! Take time out of your busy schedule and bring the whole family to enjoy a summer-long calendar of free shows, concerts, art exhibits, and events at Indy Parks.

P.E. MacAllister and the Garfield Park MacAllister Center for Performing Arts

Mr. P.E. MacAllister is a local businessman whose good fortune has permitted an extensive involvement in the arts, convinced that such enjoyment is a life-long experience. He is active in the world of opera, theatre, symphony, local television, and has a long relationship with academe, college, and church. Mr. MacAllister also chaired the Indianapolis Parks Foundation and helped launch the restoration campaign for the MacAllister Center in 1995. August 16, 1997 marked the dedication of the renovations to the facility. The amphitheater was renamed in honor of P.E. MacAllister in 1994 due to his philanthropic, civic, and community support of the arts in Indianapolis.
