BANNED BOOKS WEEK

BANNED BOOKS EXHIBIT

September 18 - October 21, 2010

Main Library Lobby

The exhibit explores challenged books, from the classics to today, highlighting To Kill a Mockingbird. The exhibit also brings a local focus to the debate by exploring the recent legislation regarding ethnic studies education in Arizona.

FREE MOVIE SCREENING

Tuesday, September 28 at 6:30 p.m.

Gallagher Theater/UA Student Union

The film To Kill a Mockingbird is the main event, in celebration of the 50th anniversary of the novel by Harper Lee. The novel has been banned or challenged in both middle and high schools on at least 15 documented occasions due to language and racial themes. The screening is sponsored by the Graduate & Professional Student Council.

READ OUT/SPEAK OUT

Thursday, September 30, 6 - 7:30 p.m.

Main Library Lobby

Join us for a "Read Out!" where campus and community members are invited to read passages from their favorite challenged materials. Following will be a panel discussion about the importance of access to diversity of ideas in a democratic society. Refreshments will be provided.

These events brought to you by the Progressive Librarians Guild and the University Libraries. For more information visit:
