Jason Seber, Music Director

A high quality musical experience for youth string players

The Louisville Youth Orchestra is now accepting audition applications for its 2011-2012 season. The LYO, beginning its 53rd season in September of 2011 offers a quality musical experience and education for members through age 21. Students are placed according to ability level in one of four ensembles. Each ensemble plays an average of five concerts (classical and pops) per season in a variety of venues. Educational trips to hear professional orchestras such as the Chicago Symphony, Cleveland Orchestra and the Cincinnati Symphony are a regular part of our season. Audition applications and additional information is available online at www.lyo.org. Questions? Call 502-896-1851.
