Famine in Somalia: A Humanitarian Crisis

By: Jibril Mohamed

More than 11 million people in Somalia are at risk of death due to starvation and disease. A terrible famine combined with insecurity has hit all of Somalia, specially the south and central regions. People are walking hundreds of miles to get to areas where food assistance is available. Women have reported leaving their children by the roadside because they could no longer carry them. One of the most heart wrenching stories was that of the baby who was found sucking her mother long after the mother died of starvation. The situation is desperate and almost 30,000 children have died in Somalia. Everyone of us can save a life. We at SomaliCAN encourage all Americans to extend the traditional American generosity to the poor and hungry in Somalia. We will keep you posted on our plans to save lives. Please stay informed, donate to recognized charities, and tell your friends about the worst humanitarian disaster in the world today. For more information about the famine, please contact us at info@somalican.org.

Apply today! Deadline for Grant Applications Oct 7, 2011.

(Columbus) - The Ohio Developmental Disabilities Council is pleased to announce it has released its 2012-2016 Notice of Funds Available (NOFA). The Council has worked for approximately two years developing a Five-Year State Plan on Developmental Disabilities to create grants that improve advocacy, capacity building, and systems change activities in Ohio .

Applicants interested in applying for a DD Council grant can learn how to apply and ask questions about projects contained in the NOFA at one of two Bidder's Conferences being hosted in Columbus and Cambridge in August. Details about each Bidder's Conference, including registration, can be found on the Council's website at www.ddc.ohio.gov/whatsnew.htm. Attendants will also receive a "Proposal Kit" that includes State Plan Language, Grantee Guidelines, and Application Instructions, along with other important materials.

The projects listed in this NOFA identify the total federal investment over the five-year plan as well as the first-year award amount. All applications for Council grants will be available on the Council's online grant submission program: DD Suite 4.0 (www.ddsuite.org). The deadline for applications will be Friday, October 7, 2011.

Application Instructions and Procedures:

Ohio Statewide System of Services for Early Intervention

Project Term: 2012-2016 Committee: Children's Issues Federal Investment: $830,000 Required Match: $276,666 2012 Award: $166,000 2012 Match: $55,333

IDEA Part C federal statute requires a statewide system of evidence-based early intervention services to be available to all infants and toddlers with disabilities and their families. To this end, Council will fund a project demonstrating system change in a minimum of three (3) or more areas of Ohio where children and families have little to no access to Early Intervention services due to political subdivisions and lack of resources. Services will be accessible through a core team of professionals, defined at a minimum to include a service coordinator, family support professional, early intervention specialist, occupational therapist and physical therapist. Accessibility should be demonstrated through the utilization of various technologies such as Telehealth for virtual-based early intervention services and conferencing for core team meetings.

USAID/SOMALI LEADERS ROUNDTABLE

On July 27, 2011, SomaliCAN hoted a roundtable between Ohio Somali community leaders and USAID. The USAID Delegation was led by Nancy Lindborg, Assistant Administrator for the Bureau of Democracy, Conflict and Humanitarian Affairs. Nancy wrote her reaction in an article posted on the White House Blog at: http://m.whitehouse.gov/blog/2011/08/02/meeting-somali-americans-about-crisis-horn-africa.

Meeting With Somali-Americans About the Crisis in the Horn of Africa

By Nancy Lindborg

The face of famine is painfully personal for members of the Somali American communities in Columbus, Ohio and Minneapolis, Minnesota. Recently, I led a community roundtable in each city, home to the two largest Somali Diaspora communities in the United States. I was able to express deepest concern, on behalf of the US government, for the people of Somalia and update them on urgent relief efforts underway by the US government throughout the Horn of Africa, where a serious drought is affecting more than 11 million people.

The USG is currently reaching more than 4.6 million people in the region who need emergency help, including $80 million of life-saving assistance to help 1.5 million people in accessible areas of Somalia. The UN has declared famine in two regions of southern Somalia where humanitarian access has been limited by Al Shabaab. USG is urgently supporting partners to provide food, health, water and sanitation assistance wherever they can access communities desperate for help.

I was also able to listen and learn from this dynamic community. Somali Americans are a vital lifeline of support for their communities and families throughout Somalia. I heard from dozens of community leaders who have mobilized their friends and neighbors to raise money for the drought through car washes, bake sales and fund drives. They are supporting feeding centers and health clinics. They have established NGOs dedicated to helping the growing number of orphaned children. A young woman in Minneapolis, choking back tears, described her Facebook page where she is raising money for drought relief and posting stories of families struggling to survive. As I heard from Jibril Mohamed of SomaliCAN in Columbus, "In 1992 I was a boy who fled the conflict and drought of southern Somalia and did the same long walk to the border that families are doing now." Jibril is now determined to reach back with the same kind of helping hand he received.

In Minneapolis, a number of Somali NGOs have joined forces with the American Refugee Committee (ARC) in an initiative called Neighbors for Nations which unites and mobilizes diaspora community efforts to provide relief and development services in Somalia.

We have a short window of opportunity to reach the 2.85 million Somalis living in famine and conflict. The Somali American community is a critical partner in identifying ways to help save lives. We need urgently to ensure life-saving assistance reaches people now and are committed to doing so. I look forward to working with this dedicated group of citizens to save lives. Learn more about the U.S. Government response to the crisis in the Horn of Africa.
